Ways of Worship Teresa Berger, 1999 The richness of recent research on women's worship gives witness to the scholarly interest in its contemporary practice reflection and construction On the other hand feminist scholarship has had little impact on liturgical historiography In Women's Ways of Worship Teresa Berger reconstructs liturgical history from the perspectives of women She shows that the invisibility of women in the traditional liturgical narrative draws into question the credibility of that narrative especially at a time when research into women's history has unearthed much material relevant to women's liturgical lives Berger focuses on thirteen key interpretative principles that guide the reconstruction of women at worship from a re configuration of the canon of sources and a re Visioning of liturgical periodization to re interpretation of anthropological basics and of liturgical texts On the basis of these principles she analyzes liturgical dynamics in two time periods crucial to the history of women at worship the early centuries of the Christian Church and the twentieth century liturgical renewal Within the twentieth century liturgical renewal Berger focuses on two specific foci of renewal the classical liturgical movement of the first half of the century and as a case of history in the making the women's liturgical movement of the present day Women's Ways of Worship narrates both past and present liturgical developments from the perspectives of women's lives heeding such dynamics as the genderization of liturgical space women specific liturgical taboos gender specific devotional practices and the emergence of feminist liturgies An epilogue confronts the question of a future liturgy beyond gender Convinced that reconstructing the history of women at worship will offer a new Vision of the place of the women's liturgical movement within liturgical history as a whole Berger puts this movement on a continuum of women at worship which is a continuum of struggle against the historic marginalization of women in most liturgical contexts As this struggle has come to the forefront today Women's Ways of Worship provides a context for change with women themselves being agents of both the questioning and the transformation Chapters are Reconstructing Women's Ways of Worship In Search of Methodological Principles Liturgical History Re Constructed I Early Christian Women at Worship Liturgical History Re Constructed II Women in the Twentieth Century Liturgical Movement and Liturgical History in the Making The Women's Liturgical Movement Teresa Berger is associate professor of Ecumenical Theology at the Divinity School of Duke University Durham North Carolina She is the author of numerous books and contributor to a variety of journals including Worship published by The Liturgical Press Old and New Morna D. Hooker, 2024-04-17 This collection of essays by Morna D Hooker deals with the theme of continuity and discontinuity primarily between first century Judaism and early Christianity and explores the ways in which New Testament writers drew on their own cultures and previous beliefs in interpreting their experience of Jesus The Poetry of James Wright Andrew Elkins, 1991 In The Poetry of James Wright the author traces Wright's formal evolution and concentrates on his consistent themes the artist's role in society the artist's search for poetic and personal identities the power of poetry as fortification against the onslaughts of time and the definition of a good and humane action Charting the poet's evolution from his first book The Green Wall to the last collections This Journey Elkins discusses one major book in each chapter explicating the more important poems in detail and explaining how each volume is part of a progression from youthful imitator to mature innovator Wright's individual struggle taking place as it did in the last half of the 20th century in America dramatizes the central problems of the creative individual in a late industrial society who is trying to turn a life into art Wright worked in the great tradition of the adamant individualists in our literary heritage and like all of his formidable ancestors he refused to trust the socialized self he found attached to his soul refused to be diminished or circumscribed by any society's definition of himself The effect of reading and studying his complete work is the recognition that Wright is a major 20th century American poet whose apparent simplicity and occasional sentimentality can obscure the complexity and maturity of his courageous confrontation with the problems of living and writhing in contemporary America Time's Stop in Savannah Ted Ray Spivey, 1997 Times's Stop in Savannah examines the life and works of poet Conrad Aiken The literary spiritual and psychological development of an often misunderstood figure of modern American literature is revealed in this study Since Aiken's death he has gained increasing recognition as an important figure in modern literature Times's Stop in Savannah shows how Aiken developed his vision of cosmic harmony The ripe fruit of discovery can be found in his universally acclaimed autobiography Ushant a work that begins in tragedy and ends in the triumphant vision of ever renewing life Lithuania's Quest for Self-Determination Thomas A. Bryer, Egle Butkeviciene, Rimantas Rauleckas, Egle Vaidelyte, Jolanta Vaiciuniene, Paulina Budryte, 2023-11-13 Self determination in the European Union rests on the strength and skills of a country's representatives to manage and leverage relationships with other nations and for individuals it rests on the ability to use autonomy and freedom wisely To flourish an individual must consciously determine their own path Similarly we can say a country can flourish Self determinism for a country is conditioned on the forces that facilitate or hinder its ability to succeed as a society The same forces that can help a nation to flourish might also accelerate the decision to emigrate among a nation's people This is the paradox and it is the quest national and individual self determination to allow choice for emigration but to have strength of culture civics and institutions to discourage it or to encourage return migration for those who have left In this book we address this paradox and this quest using the case of Lithuania More specifically we examine how municipalities can and do respond to ongoing population shrinking due to emigration in Lithuania the non economic factors that facilitate decisions to emigrate and the opportunities for local governments to shrink smartly or reverse shrinkage

The Interruptive Word R. David Nelson,2013-07-25 While German Lutheran theologian Eberhard J ngel 1934 has made a number of significant contributions to contemporaneous discussions of sacramental theology this topic has largely been ignored by interpreters of his thought This study summarizes and evaluates through a close reading of primary and secondary source materials J ngel s approach to the problem of sacrament R David Nelson considers J ngel s claim that the word of God functions sacramentally as it addresses its hearer and analyses his assertion that Jesus Christ is the unique and preeminent sacrament of God for the world Progressing to an exploration of J ngel s ecclesiology Nelson reveals J ngel s interesting approach to the question of the church s sacramentality The volume concludes with an investigation into J ngel s doctrines of baptism and the Lord s Supper The Interruptive Word demonstrates that J ngel consistently appeals to the category of interruption for describing God s sacramental relation to the world and its actualities concluding that the hegemony of the category of interruption in J ngel s theology of sacrament raises important questions concerning its coherence and tenability

Contours of Great Leadership Rosemary Papa,Fenwick W. English,Mary Culver,Ric Brown,Frank Davidson,2012-12-27 A contour is usually defined as an outline or the structure or characteristic of something A contour line which is shown on a contour map indicates points of elevation We think that all of these definitions fit Contours of Great Leadership This book brings together many aspects of concepts and theories of leadership It is an amalgam of ideas from the social sciences and the humanities woven together in the idea of leadership as an accoutrement that is a deliberate woven garment comprising science art experience and craft knowledge Thus we see leadership not as either or an art or a science or craft knowledge vs scientific or research based knowledge but rather as all of them combined and which occurs between followers and leaders within distinctive cultures and modes of communication The importance of context and culture as the milieu in which leadership is acquired and learned is critical In the end leadership is a performing art form which while it can be studied scientifically cannot be understood solely as a science without connecting it to the arts and ultimately to practice
