Archaeology Of Connecticut:

The Archaeology of Connecticut Kristen Noble Keegan, William F. Keegan, 1999 An introduction to Connecticut's human history Bulletin of the Archaeological Society of Connecticut Archaeological Society of Connecticut, 2007

Archaeology Without Digging Deborah Surabian, James Doolittle, Nick Bellantoni, 2023-04-20 Over the last 30 years the Connecticut Office of State Archaeology and the Department of Agriculture's Natural Resource Conservation Service have entered into a partnership employing ground penetrating radar GPR to the study of the state's archaeology and history As a result many historical cemeteries and places of note in Connecticut have been investigated The authors have selected 10 geophysical surveys which have used GPR as a non intrusive non destructive exploratory tool that have elicited positive results in the search for unmarked burials confirmation of marked burials and to authenticate areas of known historical events This book narrates the stories of GPR studies at 10 historical sites in Connecticut spanning the 17th to the 20th centuries Each chapter investigates and highlights a history mystery and differing aspects of our research including the lost grave of an African American Revolutionary War veteran the verification of French Revolutionary War military personnel in a mass grave the detection of a below ground hidden 19th century family burial tomb the discovery of hurriedly dug unmarked burials associated with the 1918 influenza pandemic and the detection of the unknown location of a 1941 military plane crash site among others Professionally the authors have over 40 years experience in GPR soil science and archaeology They bring their collective expertise to the reader in a scientific approach with a personal story telling touch Each chapter delves into the history of the sites and the nature of the geophysical search i e how the equipment was used and the interpretation of the data in regard to solving a historical problem

"And So the Tomb Remained" Nick Bellantoni, 2020-12-28 Stone and brick tombs were repositories for the physical remains of many of Connecticut's wealthiest and influential families The desire was to be interred within burial vaults rather than have their wooden coffins laid into the earth in direct contact with crushing soil burden led many prominent families to construct large above ground and semi subterranean tombs usually burrowed into the sides of hills as places of interment for their dead And So The Tomb Remains tells the stories of the Connecticut State Archaeologist's investigations into five 18th 19th century family tombs the sepulchers of Squire Elisha Pitkin Center Cemetery East Hartford Gershom Bulkeley Ancient Burying Ground Colchester Samuel and Martha Huntington Norwichtown Cemetery Norwich Henry Chauncey Indian Hill Cemetery Middletown and Edwin D Morgan Cedar Hill Cemetery Hartford In all of these cases the state archaeologist assisted in identifying and restoring human skeletal remains to their original burial placements when vandalized through occult rituals or contributed to the identification of unrecorded burials during restoration projects Each investigative delves into family histories and genealogies as well as archaeological and forensic sciences that helped identify the entombed and is told in a personal story telling approach Written in essay form each investigation highlights differing aspects of research in mortuary architecture and cemetery landscaping public health restoration efforts crime scene investigations and occult activities These five case studies began either as history mysteries or as crime scene investigations Since historic tombs were occupied by social and economic elites forensic studies provide an opportunity to investigate the health and life stress pathologies of the wealthiest citizens in Connecticut's historic past while offering comparisons to the wellbeing of lower socio economic populations

And So the Tomb Remained Nick Bellantoni, 2021-02-19 And So The Tomb Remains tells the stories of the Connecticut State Archaeologist's investigations into five 18th 19th century family tombs

Conservation Archaeology David A. Poirier, 1984 Connecticut's Indigenous Peoples Lucianne Lavin, 2013-06-25

More than 10 000 years ago people settled on lands that now lie within the boundaries of the state of Connecticut Leaving no written records and scarce archaeological remains these peoples and their communities have remained unknown to all but a few archaeologists and other scholars This pioneering book is the first to provide a full account of Connecticut's indigenous peoples from the long ago days of their arrival to the present day

Lucianne Lavin draws on exciting new archaeological and ethnographic discoveries interviews with Native Americans rare documents including periodicals archaeological reports master's theses and doctoral dissertations conference papers newspapers and government records as well as her own ongoing archaeological and documentary research She creates a fascinating and remarkably detailed portrait of indigenous peoples in deep historic times before European contact and of their changing lives during the past 400 years of colonial and state history She also includes a short study of Native Americans in Connecticut in the twentieth and twenty first centuries This book brings to light the richness and diversity of Connecticut's indigenous histories corrects misinformation about the vanishing Connecticut Indian and reveals the significant roles and contributions of Native Americans to modern day Connecticut

The Connecticut Valley Indian William R. Young, 1969 Highways to History Ross K. Harper, Bruce Clouette, Mary G. Archaeology in America Linda S. Cordell, Kent Lightfoot, Francis McManamon, George Milner, 2008-12-30 The greatness of America is right under our feet The American past the people battles industry and homes can be found not only in libraries and museums but also in hundreds of archaeological sites that scientists investigate with great care These sites are not in distant lands accessible only by research scientists but nearby almost every locale possesses a parcel of land worthy of archaeological exploration Archaeology in America is the first resource that provides students researchers and anyone interested in their local history with a survey of the most important archaeological discoveries in North America Leading scholars most with an intimate knowledge of the area have written in depth essays on over 300 of the most important archaeological sites that explain the importance of the site the history of the people who left the artifacts and the nature of the ongoing research Archaeology in America divides it coverage into 8 regions the Arctic and Subarctic the Great Basin and Plateau the Great Plains and Rocky Mountains the Midwest the Northeast the Southeast the Southwest and the West Coast Each entry provides readers with an accessible overview of the archaeological site as well as books and articles for further research

Archaeology of the Appalachian Highlands Lynne P. Sullivan, Susan C. Prezzano, 2001 This volume is a major synthesis of the archaeology of the Appalachian region and includes much material that was previously unpublished or underpublished The information and interpretations presented will be very useful for archaeologists working in eastern North America who are interested in this diverse region C Clifford Boyd Jr Radford University Archaeology of the Appalachian Highlands reveals that every part of Appalachia yields archaeological evidence significant to understanding the broad prehistoric sweep of the American Indians In this most welcome volume editors Lynn Sullivan and Susan Prezzano have assembled the most current interpretations of archaeological theory technology and cultural history as these occur in the highlands of eastern North America This volume to shatter myths about Appalachian and its past David S Brose Director Schiele Museum of Natural History

Historical Archaeology and Indigenous Collaboration D. Rae Gould, Holly Herbst, Heather Law Pezzarossi, Stephen A. Mrozowski, 2024-04-02 Highlighting the strong relationship between New England's Nipmuc people and their land from the pre contact period to the present day this book helps demonstrate that the history of Native Americans did not end with the arrival of Europeans This is the rich result of a twenty year collaboration between Indigenous and nonindigenous authors who use their own example to argue that Native peoples need to be integral to any research project focused on Indigenous history and culture

Historical Archaeology of the Revolutionary War Encampments of Washington's Army Cosimo A. Sgarlata, David G. Orr, Bethany A. Morrison, 2019-06-12 This volume presents recent archaeological and ethnohistorical research on the encampments trails and support structures of the Continental Army during the American Revolutionary War These sites illuminate the daily lives of soldiers officers and camp followers away from the more well known military campaigns and battles The research featured here includes previously unpublished findings from the winter encampments at Valley Forge Pennsylvania as well as work from sites in Redding Connecticut and Morristown New Jersey Topics range from excavations of a special dining cabin constructed for General George Washington to ballistic analysis of a target range established by General von Steuben Contributors use experimental archaeology to learn how soldiers constructed their log hut quarters and they reconstruct Rochambeau's marching route through Connecticut on his way to help Washington defeat the British at Yorktown They also describe the underrecognized roles of African descendants Native peoples and women who lived and worked at the camps Showing how archaeology can contribute insights into the American Revolution beyond what historical records convey this volume calls for protection of and further research into non conflict sites that were crucial to this formative struggle in the history of the United States Contributors Cosimo Sgarlata Joseph

Balicki Joseph R Blondino Douglas Campana Wade P Catts Daniel Cruson Mathew Grubel Mary Harper Diane Hassan David G Orr Julia Steele Laurie Weinstein Critical Historical Archaeology Mark P Leone, 2016-09-16 How can we use the past to make sense of the issues and problems that concern us in the present Mark Leone the leading critical theorist in historical archaeology urges archaeologists to view their discipline as an activist pursuit This volume is partly his autobiographical reflection on a thirty five year career part a collection of Leone s classic writings on Annapolis Williamsburg Shakertown St Mary s and other key sites and part a synthesis of his current thinking on how historical archaeology can engage the cultural and political issues of our time Critical Historical Archaeology is an important summary of the work and thinking of one of our most thoughtful influential archaeologists Encyclopedia of Historical Archaeology Charles E. Orser Jnr, 2002-09-11 The Encyclopedia of Historical Archaeology is a ground breaking compendium of information about this ever growing field Concentrating on the post 1400 period as well as containing generic explanations of historical archaeology where needed the encyclopedia is compiled by over 120 experts from around the world and contains more than 370 entries covering important concepts and sites Space, Time, and Archaeological Landscapes Jaqueline Rossignol, LuAnn Wandsnider, 2013-11-11 The last 20 years have witnessed a proliferation of new approaches in archaeological data recovery analysis and theory building that incorporate both new forms of information and new methods for investigating them The growing importance of survey has meant an expansion of the spatial realm of traditional archaeological data recovery and analysis from its traditional focus on specific locations on the landscape archaeological sites to the incorporation of data both on site and off site from across extensive regions Evolving survey methods have led to experiments with nonsite and distributional data recovery as well as the critical evaluation of the definition and role of archaeological sites in data recovery and analysis In both survey and excavation the geomorphological analysis of landscapes has become increasingly important in the analysis of archaeological materials Ethnoarchaeology the use of ethnography to sharpen archaeological understanding of cultural and natural formation processes has concentrated study on the formation processes underlying the content and structure of archaeological deposits These actualistic studies consider patterns of deposition at the site level and the material results of human organization at the regional scale Ethnoarchaeological approaches have also affected research in theoretical ways by expanding investigation into the nature and organization of systems of land use per se thus providing direction for further study of the material results of those systems
