Architecture Of The Old South Virginia:

The Architecture of Jefferson Country K. Edward Lay, 2000 But what is less well known are the many important examples of other architectural idioms built in this Piedmont Virginia county many by nationally renowned architects

Architecture of the Old South Mills Lane, 1993 From early colonial times to the onset of the Civil War the finest examples of antebellum architecture in the South are revealed in glorious photographs and a scholarly text This handsome volume is the culmination of a distinguished series that has explored the historic buildings of the Old South The fruit of fifteen years of travel and research Architecture of the Old South surveys the most beautiful and historic buildings of the region and illustrates them with color photographs old prints and drawings The authoritative and sometimes amusing text documents a surprising conclusion that most of the great buildings of the Old South were created by Yankee builders and that the South participated more fully in the mainstream of American life before the Civil War than has been fully appreciated Indeed the illustrations and text of Architecture of the Old South though presenting famous shrines explore the unexpected by ways of Southern architecture and history The great buildings of great cities Baltimore Charleston Savannah and New Orleans and plantations and country houses of the gentry are well represented But here also can be found a wealth of the unfamiliar frontier cabins eccentric houses built by gentlemen amateurs grand designs of professional designers from England and Europe When the Architecture of the Old South series was begun in 1981 the New York Times praised the first of these volumes as dignified and handsome with engaging texts that strike a neat balance between architectural scholarship and social history Mills Lane a native Georgian who was educated at Harvard boasts that he is a Yankee above the waist and a Southerner below the waist He has brought to his subject an affection and familiarity with the South balanced by a wider perspective As publisher of The Beehive Press located in a house facing one of Savannah's verdant squares Lane has produced more than fifty books about the cultural and social history of Georgia and the South In an age that seems to spin bigger and faster Lane was honored with a 1993 commendation by Dartmouth College Library for his clear vision patient scholarly investigation and persistent progress As author Mills Lane has written eight previous volumes in the Architecture of the Old South series state by state surveys of Maryland Virginia Kentucky Tennessee North Carolina South Carolina Georgia Mississippi Alabama and Louisiana 250 illustrations Architecture of the Old South Mills Lane, 1996 Architecture of the Old South Ernest Ray Denmark, 1926 Architecture of the Old South Mills Lane, 1989 Antebellum

Architecture of Kentucky Clay Lancaster, 2014-07-15 During the eight decades preceding the Civil War Kentucky was the scene of tremendous building activity Located in the western section of the original English colonies midway between North and South Kentucky saw the rise of an architecture that combined the traditions of nationally known designers eager to achieve the refinements of their English mother culture alongside the innovativeness and bold originality proper to the frontier Tradition thus provided a tangible link with world architectural development while innovation offered refreshing variations The result was a distinctive regional architecture In his newest look at Kentucky architecture Clay Lancaster broadens his scope to include analyses of significant structures from throughout the commonwealth illustrating the entire range of stylistic development Like his acclaimed earlier book Antebellum Houses of the Bluegrass the current volume provides historical background as well as drawings photographs and floor plans showing both general features and details Among the many Kentucky buildings discussed are examples by such well known early American architects as Benjamin Henry Latrobe Thomas Jefferson James Dakin Isaiah Rogers Alexander J Davis and Francis Costigan as well as the work of local master builders such as Matthew Kennedy Micajah Burnett Gideon Shryock Thomas Lewinski and John McMurtry Also included are Kentucky buildings designed from nationally distributed architectural books and builders guides Lancaster gives special attention to the Geometric Style which evolved further and produced more noteworthy monuments in Kentucky than anywhere else in America Such buildings in turn bestowed a simplicity and straightforwardness on structures in later styles As Lancaster shows the architecture that resulted from Kentucky's fertile eclecticism constitutes a rich and rewarding architectural heritage All lovers of fine architecture will treasure this handsome and informative book

Architecture and Town Planning in Colonial North America James D. Kornwolf, Georgiana Wallis Kornwolf, 2002 Incorporating more than 3 000 illustrations Kornwolf's work conveys the full range of the colonial encounter with the continent's geography from the high forms of architecture through formal landscape design and town planning From these pages emerge the fine arts of environmental design an understanding of the political and economic events that helped to determine settlement in North America an appreciation of the various architectural and landscape forms that the settlers created and an awareness of the diversity of the continent's geography and its peoples Considering the humblest buildings along with the mansions of the wealthy and powerful public buildings forts and churches Kornwolf captures the true dynamism and diversity of colonial communities their rivalries and frictions their outlooks and attitudes as they extended their hold on the land

Lost Plantations of the South Marc R. Matrana, 2014-07-18 The great majority of the South's plantation homes have been destroyed over time and many have long been forgotten In Lost Plantations of the South Marc R Matrana weaves together photographs diaries and letters architectural renderings and other rare documents to tell the story of sixty of these vanquished estates and the people who once called them home From plantations that were destroyed by natural disaster such as Alabama's Forks of Cypress to those that were intentionally demolished such as Seven Oaks in Louisiana and Mount Brilliant in Kentucky Matrana resurrects these lost mansions Including plantations throughout the South as well as border states Matrana carefully tracks the histories of each from the earliest days of construction to the often contentious struggles to preserve these irreplaceable historic treasures Lost Plantations of the South explores the root causes of demise and provides understanding and insight on how lessons learned in these sad losses can help prevent future preservation crises Capturing the voices of masters and mistresses alongside those of slaves and featuring more than one hundred elegant archival illustrations this book explores the powerful and complex histories of these cardinal homes across the South The Photographic Legacy of Frances Benjamin Johnston Maria Elizabeth Ausherman, 2022-08-15 One of the first women to work in an emerging field dominated by men Frances Benjamin Johnston 1864 1952 achieved acclaim in the late nineteenth century as an accomplished photographer Her career spanned nearly seventy years during which she became respected for her portraiture artistic studies photojournalism and garden and architectural photography She was instrumental in defining the medium and inspiring women to train in and appreciate photography Though the socially well connected Johnston was popular among prestigious celebrities of the day she worked as the official White House photographer for five administrations it is her monumental nine state survey of southern American architecture that stands as her most significant contribution to the history and development of photography both as art and as documentary Drawing upon Johnston's original papers and photographs from the Library of Congress Maria Ausherman's examination of this extraordinary photographer's career shows both the early origins of her style and vision and her attempts to change society through her art

Peters, 1995 They examine historic structures ranging from the Essex County courthouse 1729 and the King William County courthouse built ca 1725 and one of the oldest public buildings in continuous use in the nation to the newer historic courthouses such as Richmond's massive Supreme Court State Library Building dedicated in 1941 The Greenwood Encyclopedia of Homes through World History James M. Steele, 2009-03-30 The house throughout history in every place in the world has been built to provide shelter from the elements The dwellings that have resulted are as different as the people that have built them the social norms that prevailed at the time and place in which they were built and the natural environment that they adapted to Studying them now in a comprehensive way allows us to understand the social political economic and religious conditions that existed for their inhabitants They are a three dimensional record of culture Twenty four pages of color images along with black and white images through three volumes illustrate the homes of people throughout the world The volumes cover ancient times to the late Middle Ages the Renaissance to the Industrial Revolution and the Post Industrial Revolution to the Present Classical Norfolk Furniture, 1810-1840 Thomas R. J. Newbern, James R. Melchor, 2004 Furniture scholars Thomas R J Newbern and James R Melchor have joined forces with Turner Publishing Company to produce this fascinating look at Classical Norfolk Furniture between the years of 1810 and 1840 Featuring over 420 full color photos this book is a groundbreaking study of a major southern furniture group not previously studied in depth Classical Norfolk Furniture 1810 1840 is the culmination of over 20 years of research from its authors who examined hundreds of pieces of furniture made field notes studied research files and gathered information from across the country to make this one of a kind publication possible Questioning Architectural Judgment Steven A. Moore, Barbara B. Wilson, 2013-07-24 The book shines light on the problem of judgment particularly in the realm of architectural technics and the codes that regulate it The struggle to define sustainability and thus judge architecture through such lenses is but one dimension of the contemporary problem of judgment. By providing the reader with an inherently interdisciplinary study of a particular discipline, architecture, it brings to the topic lenses that challenge the too frequently unexamined assumptions of the discipline. By situating architecture within a broader cultural field and using case studies to dissect the issues discussed, the book emphasizes that it is not simply a matter of designing better, more efficient or more stringent codes to guide place making, but a matter of reconstructing the boundaries of the systems to be coded. The authors are winners of the EDRA Place Research Award 2014 for their work on the Green Alley Demonstration Project used in the book Home Design Standards Home Building Standards 1Q09, The Buildings of Peter Harrison John Fitzhugh Millar, 2014-10-02. Perhaps the most important architect ever to have worked in America, Peter Harrison's renown suffers from the destruction of most of his papers when he died in 1775. He was born in Yorkshire, England, in 1716 and trained to be an architect as a teenager. He also became a ship captain and soon sailed to ports in America where he began designing some of the most iconic buildings of the continent. In a clandestine operation, he procured the plans for the French Canadian fortress of Louisbourg, enabling Massachusetts Governor William Shirley to capture it in 1745. This setback forced the French to halt their operation to capture all of British America and to give up British territory they had captured in India. As a result, he was rewarded with commissions to design important buildings in Britain and in nearly all British colonies around the world, and he became the first person ever to have designed buildings on six continents. He designed mostly in a neo-Palladian style and invented a way of building wooden structures so as to look like carved stone: wooden rustication. He also designed some of America's most valuable furniture, including inventing the coveted block front and introducing the bombe motif. In America, he lived in Newport, Rhode Island, and in New Haven, Connecticut, where he died at the beginning of the War of Independence.

George Washington's Eye Joseph Manca, 2012-09-01. Explore the beauty and history of Mount Vernon and the inquisitive, independent mind of its famous architect and landscape designer. Winner of the John Brinkerhoff Jackson Book Prize of the Foundation for Landscape Architecture. On the banks of the Potomac River, Mount Vernon stands with its iconic portico, boasting breathtaking views and with a landscape to rival the great gardens of Europe as a monument to George Washington's artistic and creative efforts. More than one million people visit Mount Vernon each year, drawn to the stature and beauty of Washington's family estate. Art historian Joseph Manca systematically examines Mount Vernon, its stylistic, moral, and historical dimensions, offering a complete picture of this national treasure and the man behind its enduring design. Manca brings to light a Washington deeply influenced by his wide travels in colonial America, with a broader architectural knowledge than previously suspected and with a philosophy that informed his aesthetic sensibility. Washington believed that design choices and personal character mesh to form an ethic of virtue and fulfillment, and that art is inextricably linked with moral and social concerns. Manca examines how these ideas shaped the material culture of Mount Vernon. Based on careful study of Washington's personal diaries and correspondence and on the lively accounts of visitors to his estate, this richly illustrated book introduces a George Washington unfamiliar to many readers an avid art collector amateur architect and leading landscape designer of his time Architecture ,1926 A Pride of Place Kimberly Prothro Williams,2003 A Pride of Place the result of a quarter century s worth of painstaking research and collection presents the first comprehensive architectural and historic inventory of the widely diverse and irreplaceable rural residences of Fauquier County Virginia Hundreds of photographs and illustrations each accompanied by informative text provide a fascinating and helpful overview of the county s rich architectural heritage Archeological Excavations at Jamestown Colonial National Historical Park and Jamestown National Historic Site, Virginia John L.
