Fibonacci and Gann Applications in Financial Markets George MacLean, 2005-08-19 There are many books covering Fibonacci from an artistic and historical point of view and almost as many suggesting that Fibonacci retracements and numbers can be successfully applied to financial market time series. What is missing is a book that addresses the common errors in using screen-based Fibonacci and Gann and other tools. The book is a critical exploration of Fibonacci numbers, retracements, projections, timeframes, and fanlines and their current usage within the financial markets by technical analysts. Although they can be extremely effective analytical tools when used appropriately, mistakes in usage can be extremely costly from a financial and credibility viewpoint. George MacLean takes a brief look at the history of Fibonacci and Gann before providing a full account of their applications in financial markets including fixed income, equity, foreign exchange, commodities, and indexes. In particular, he draws attention to the overuse and misuse of easily applied computer packages available to professional and amateur traders.

Financial Risk Taking Mike Elvin, 2006-02-08 In Financial Risk Taking, trader and psychologist Mike Elvin explores the complex relationship between human behaviour patterns and the markets, offering the reader a context in which to assess their own strengths and weaknesses as investors. The book offers an apposite and uncomplicated system of skills development in the form of competences and competencies that can be applied anywhere along the continuum from casual investor to full-time day trader. Elvin presents a Comprehensive Model of Trading Competence, the MOT, as well as the concepts of analysis and refutation, the paramouncy principle, and self-sabotaging behaviours such as the Santa Claus syndrome and Bohica effect. Areas covered include: Emotions: are they functional or disabling? How do the mechanisms of fear, greed, and panic work? Motivation and perception: how do belief paradigms affect perception and performance? What perceptual errors influence decisions to the trader's detriment? Information processing and risk assessment: how does information overload affect investment decisions? Technological and mathematical anxiety: why do we avoid learning the skills we most need? What levels of ability are required? Can psychological and biological theories assist in our understanding of investors' performance?

Derivatives, New Market Mavericks Geoff Cutmore, 2005-04-08 Geoff Cutmore offers a fresh approach to the age-old battle of profitable investing in uncertain times. With most experts now predicting volatile stock market conditions in the years ahead, many old tried and true investment strategies no longer work. Cutmore reveals how some well-known investors continue to make money in these difficult economic times Through the biggest equity bubble and bear market in a generation Geoff Cutmore has been a pivotal commentator on these unfolding events in his role as main anchorman for CNBC Europe s award winning business breakfast programme Squawk Box In this book Geoff provides a fascinating insight into some of the leading characters in the investment industry and how their alternative investment styles have worked during the biggest bear market in a generation It is essential reading for all those people who have an interest in investment and can help investors understand some of the different investment approaches which have evolved during this tumultuous period Nigel Bolton Head of European Equities Scottish Widows Investment Partnership Is the bear market in stocks over or are we in for many more tough years and what does that mean for our hard earned pension portfolios By talking to some of the great original thinkers in investing Geoff skillfully draws out some fascinating answers An absolute pleasure to read Bob McKee Chief Economist Independent Strategy London based global investment consult Single Stock Futures Patrick L.
