NATO and Article 5 John R. Deni, 2017-10-04 For much of the last 25 years NATO has focused on crisis management in places such as Kosovo and Afghanistan resulting in major changes to alliance strategy resourcing force structure and training Re embracing collective defense which lies at the heart of the Treaty of Washington s Article 5 commitment is no easy feat and not something NATO can do through rhetoric and official pronouncements Nonetheless this shift is vitally necessary if the alliance is to remain the bulwark of Western defense and security Russia s illegal annexation of Crimea and its invasion of Ukraine have fundamentally upended the security environment in Europe thrusting NATO into the spotlight as the primary collective defense tool most European states rely upon to ensure their security Collective defense is one of the alliance s three core missions along with crisis management and cooperative security It is defined in Article 5 the most well known and arguably most important part of NATO s founding treaty which states The Parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all Although all three missions are vital to the interests of NATO s many member states collective defense has become first among equals once again However three very significant hurdles stand in the way of the alliance and its member states as they attempt to re embrace collective defense These loosely correspond to an ends ways means construct First is the alliance s strategy toward Russia Is Russia an adversary a partner neither or both How should strategy and policies change to place the alliance and its members on more solid ground when it comes to managing Russia Second are the ongoing disputes over resourcing and burden sharing In recent years it has become commonplace for American leaders to publicly berate European allies in an effort to garner more contributions to the common defense How might the alliance better measure and more equitably share security burdens Third is the alliance s readiness to fulfill its objectives Many allies have announced or are implementing increases in defense spending However governments of European NATO member states are strongly incentivized by domestic politics to favor acquisition of military hardware or spending on personnel salaries and benefits usually at the expense of readiness The result is that NATO military forces risk quickly becoming hollow in a way that is often underappreciated which will prevent the alliance from fulfilling the collective defense promise inherent in Article 5 The book examines all such questions to assess NATO s return to collective defense and offer a roadmap for overcoming those challenges in both the short and long term Neoliberalism Economic Policy and the Collapse of the Public Sector Lionel D. Lyles PhD.,2018-07-13 My book demonstrates how classical liberalism was the foundation upon which Thomas Jefferson George Washington Alexander Hamilton and others wrote the Declaration of Independence Constitution and the Bills of Rights however it was rolled back by 1980 and replaced with neoliberalism which was championed by the Reagan Administration In short this ideology has one main aim and that is to shrink government cut the budgets of social programs and give away billions of taxpayer dollars to private business in the form of tax breaks During the Jindal administration and by the end of its first term more than 7 billion worth of tax breaks had been given away to private business A surplus of 1 billion left in the Louisiana treasury by outgoing governor Kathleen Blanco after Hurricane Katrina was given away by the end of the first two months of its first term Today the Louisiana legislature is currently facing a 650 million fiscal cliff and no doubt more budget cuts are in store for the Louisiana public sector Rebalance to Asia III United States.
